Airprox	Recommendation	Comments
2026002	The Kernan (Tandragee) aerodrome operator reviews the entry for Kernan (Tandragee) aerodrome in the UK AIP to ensure coherence with the information provided on the Kernan Valley Flying Club website and other published materials, including airfield nomenclature.	The UK AIP (at ENR 5.5) relates to Kernan and an internet search for either Tandragee or Kernan leads one to the Kernan Valley Flying Club website with clear 'Kernan' labelling. Although the 'Airfield Plates' link on the website takes a visitor to an older (but coherent with the unchanged plate in the 2026 Pooley's Flight Guide) plates with 'c/s Tandragee Radio' it may be helpful to align that with the Kernan labelling elsewhere.
2026006	The nominated DA Authority for TDA 098 to consider amending the AIC Y019/2026 to specify the pressure datum to be used to define its vertical extent.	Under Consideration.
2026041	The CAA considers a review of the impact on flight safety of poor or non-standard RT phraseology within UK airspace.	Under Consideration.
2026069	The North Weald aerodrome operator considers additional mitigations to mid-air collision for aircraft joining the visual circuit.	The information provided to pilots on the website for North Weald aerodrome has been reviewed. Pilot Briefing events will continue to be held, where pilots are reminded of the correct joining procedures. A pilot safety video has been recently produced which includes simple, clear instructions as to how to join the circuit. This will be shared with the 300+ pilots on a mailing list. The video will also be added to the website for North Weald aerodrome and to social media outlets in due course. A radical change to the procedures has been considered which would mean all traffic would join from the east. However, it was felt that this would cause problems elsewhere when positioning for a crosswind join and, further, questions remained as to how the change could be accomplished practically.
2026091	Banbury Gliding Club and Oxford ANSP to agree a means by which commencement and cessation of gliding activity can be notified.	Under Consideration.
